drawing on extensive research in the Spanish National Archive Alejandro Herrero Olaizola examines the role played by the censorship apparatus of Franco's Spain in bringing about the Latin American literary boom of the 1960s and 1970s. He reveals the negotiations and behind-the-scenes maneuvering among those involved in the Spanish publishing industry: converging interests made strange bedfellows of the often left-wing authors and the staid officials appointed to stand guard over Francoist morality and to defend the supposed purity of Castilian Spanish. Between these two uneasily allied groups circulated larger-than-life real-world characters like the Barcelona publisher Carlos Barral and the all-powerful literary agent Carmen Balcells. The author details the fascinating story of how novels by Mario Vargas Llosa, Guillermo Cabrera Infante, Gabriel García Márquez, and Manuel Puig achieved publication in Spain and, in doing so, reached a worldwide market. This colorful account underpins a compelling claim that even the most innovative and aesthetically challenging literature has its roots in the economics of the book trade as well as the institutions of government and the exigencies of everyday politics and ideology.

An open access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the Open Library as part of the Opening the Future project with Copim representations of China in Latin American literature, 1987–2016. This analysis of contemporary Latin American novels in which China is the main theme uses China as a multidimensional term. It explores how the novels both highlight and undermine assumptions about China that have shaped Latin America's understanding of China and shows China to be a kind of literary imaginary, a third term which reframes Latin American discourses of alterity. On one level, it argues that these texts play with the way that China stands in as a wandering signifier and as a metonym for Asia, a gesture that essentialises it as an unchanging other. On another level, it argues that the novels' employment of China resists essentialist constructions of identity. China is thus shown to be serving as a concept which allows for criticism of the construction of fetishized otherness and of the exclusion inherent in essentialist discourses of identity. The book presents and analyses the depiction of an imaginary of China which is arguably performative but which discloses the tropes and themes which may be both established and subverted in the novels. Chapter one examines the way in which China is represented and constructed in Latin American novels where this country is a setting for their stories. The novels studied in chapter two are linked to the presence of Chinese communities in Latin America. The final chapter examines novels whose main theme is travel to contemporary China. Ultimately, in the novels studied in this book, China serves as a concept through which essentialist notions of identity are critiqued.
